Proceedings of the Meeting:

The Director IQAC welcomed the members' and invited Prof. Kartik Dave, Chair (Officiating, Vice Chancellor) to deliver the opening remarks. The Chair opened the meeting by highlighting key developments and priorities in accreditation and quality assurance across higher education institutions (HEIs). It was noted that, as per VBSA, accreditation will become mandatory for all institutions under UGC, AICTE, and NCTE. Prof. Dave highlighted the complexity of the NAAC accreditation process and the emergent context of major policy-level changes related to quality assurance and accreditation. Prof Dave referred to institutions, particularly in cities like Mumbai and Gurugram, which have achieved prestigious triple-crown accreditations (~~ASFS~~, ~~AMA~~, ~~QSI~~), setting benchmarks for excellence. ^{AACSB, AMBA, EQUIS} The importance of developing a sustained quality culture within Indian HEIs was emphasized. He observed that institutional efforts must go beyond compliance and focus on meaningful engagement with quality enhancement processes.

Dr B.R. Ambedkar University, Delhi, is preparing for its third cycle of accreditation, scheduled for 2027. It was reported that sub-committees have been constituted for each of the NAAC criteria to streamline institutional readiness at all levels for the accreditation process. The documentation and data required for the preparation of the Self-Study Report (SSR) is being processed. Annual Quality Assurance Reports (AQARs) since the past accreditation in 2021 have been prepared, presented and approved by IQAC and the competent authority. The AQAR for the 2024-25 period is being processed. It was reported that institutional efforts have been made to update and strengthen the university website. The focus is on ensuring relevance, clarity, and usefulness for stakeholders, rather than mere compliance. It was observed that through sustained initiatives, the university has affirmed its commitment to continuous quality enhancement. Key initiatives over the last year include: the establishment of new research centres, the implementation of quality capacity-building programmes, the promotion of research through schemes and project grants, and the development of new schools and academic programmes. These initiatives are aimed at improving performance in NAAC accreditation and subject-wise QS rankings.

After the opening remarks of the Chair, the deliberations on Agenda Items were taken up with the permission of the Chair.

Agenda-wise Proceedings:

The Director, IQAC, presented the minutes of the IQAC meeting held on 3 June 2025 and reported that all the key resolutions and recommendations made during the meeting have been acted upon and have been implemented.

Agenda Item 1

Progress Review of NAAC Re-accreditation Preparations and Status update on preparatory work for the upcoming NAAC re-accreditation cycle.

Director, IQAC, reported that the draft guidelines for the new accreditation framework proposed by NAAC in August 2024 are yet to be finalised. In the interim, IQAC has proactively constituted sub-committees aligned with the eleven evaluation criteria proposed in the NAAC 2024 guidelines. The sub-committees comprise faculty members and administrative staff across Schools and campuses, and have initiated consultations and review of documentation processes and mechanisms aligned with their respective criteria metrics.

Agenda Item 2:

Criteria-wise documentation and data compilation through NAAC-Sub-committees and AQAR 2024-2025.

It was reported that IQAC had initiated criteria-wise documentation for the Annual Quality Assurance Report for the duration 1 July 2024-30 June 2025 according to the 2018 NAAC guidelines and templates. School-related data has been collected, and administrative and governance-related data is in the process of compilation.

It was reported that the IQAC has initiated work on creating SOPs for data collection and documentation of academic and administrative processes through eleven sub-committees aligned with the proposed NAAC Maturity-Based Graded Levels (MBGL) Accreditation framework. Documentation of school- and university-level initiatives has been streamlined, with most activity reports uploaded to either the University or the School Website. IQAC will anchor the Internal nsj

Audit of academic processes in 2026, as well as invite experts for peer review as part of preparation for the next accreditation cycle due in 2027 for the University.

Agenda Item 3

Report on the implementation of the new Student Feedback Process and presentation of findings from the Student Feedback Survey conducted in Monsoon 2025. Analysis and action points for integration of feedback into academic and administrative reforms.

Based on the recommendation made in the 3rd June 2025 IQAC meeting, IQAC has taken initiatives to strengthen feedback mechanisms in the University at all levels. During the Monsoon 2025 semester, IQAC anchored the process for centralised collection of student feedback on courses and instruction through the Samarth portal. It was reported that a detailed SOP has been created and shared with School Deans about the collection and analysis of feedback forms and the mechanism for taking action based on the analysis. Feedback was collected through a Survey Questionnaire with 11 Likert-scale questions (scale of 1-4, with one being least favourable and 4 most favourable) on pedagogical and instructional quality, course & assessment design, reading material accessibility and inclusivity and 3 open-ended questions on programme/course specific inputs. Feedback was received for 376 courses, totalling 2198 entries. Over 81% of courses received a score of 3 and above.

Feedback is also being collected through a student satisfaction survey questionnaire on the Samarth portal, with a focus on the overall student experience of the academic programme and the University for final semester graduating students. The process of collecting feedback from other stakeholders, like the industry, parents, faculty, and staff, is also being worked out.

Suggestions were given to make the feedback process mandatory for students and to recognise good teaching practices by instituting a reward/faculty acknowledgement process at the programme level. External experts emphasised the need to focus in particular on the action taken mechanism of the feedback process, and for feedback analysis to reflect in changes and corrective actions. It was advised to institute a mid-semester feedback mechanism to ensure mid-course corrections can be made.

Agenda Item 4

Reporting Framework for Programme Outcomes (PO), Programme Specific Outcomes (PSO), and Course Outcomes (CO) and proposal for developing a consolidated Programme Booklet / Bulletin of information across all programmes of the University.

It was reported that IQAC, in collaboration with the School of Education Studies (SES) organised a day-long workshop for faculty members on undertaking systematic curricular revision aligned with the Learning Outcomes-based Curriculum Framework. This was followed by a series of meetings with programme teams and NEP-IQAC coordinators, where the programme template as well as course templates which map COs with POs, were discussed. These were then presented and reviewed in a monthly review meeting of the Hon'ble Vice Chancellor and School Deans and Directors. Feedback received from all the stakeholders and senior administration was incorporated into the final template. To ensure uniformity in course outlines and documents, the Curriculum Sub-Committee of IQAC has prepared FAQ documents for faculty members on PO/CO-related issues. Attempts have been made to incorporate the UGC NCrF guidelines on graduate attributes and align course and programme outcomes with these attributes.

The committee has created a feedback form for employers and alumni to incorporate feedback into the curriculum and course revision.

Suggestions were shared on benchmarking graduate attributes and programme outcomes with international standards and offering capacity development workshops for faculty members on emerging areas like AI, curriculum and learning in higher education aligned with specific disciplinary requirements.

Agenda Item 5

Academic Reforms and Programme Updates

- 1. Review of readiness for implementation of the National Credit Framework.

2. Progress report on the introduction and implementation of One-Year M.A. programmes.

Prof Rukmini Sen and Dr. Aakriti Grover reported that the University's Academic Reforms Committee has in compliance with UGC National Credit Framework and NEP guidelines recommended the restructuring of MA programmes aligned with the four year undergraduate programmes. These recommendations have been approved in the 42nd Academic Council Meeting of the University. It was reported that credit requirements for MA programmes aligned with NHEQF have been increased from 80 credits to improve employability and competitiveness. 1-year MA programmes will be rolled out in Psychology, Sociology, Economics, English, Hindi, History, and Political Science from the academic year 2026 (minimum 48 credits), with a mix of skill enhancement courses, MOOCs, and specialised courses in AI, sustainability, and Bhartiya Knowledge Systems.

It was reported that all schools will offer a Coursework+Research trajectory for One-Year MA Programmes.

Agenda Item 6

E-Governance Initiatives: Reporting on progress made in strengthening e-governance systems in academic and administrative processes.

It was reported that the University has moved to the Samarth portal for administrative and academic processes related to students, faculty and staff. IT Services has worked on modules of e-office, admission cycles, and feedback modules on Samarth. It was reported that the university is the only state university to have implemented 70-80% Samarth use in e-governance.

Agenda Item 7a

Reporting on progress in enhancing placement opportunities. Industry linkages, internships, and career support initiatives

Dr. Nidhi Kaicker, reported that the Training & Placement Cell, which was part of the Student Services Division, had been formed into a separate Division in 2025. T&P Division has initiated centralised placement drives since its launch, organised workshops for skill enhancement for students, such as resume building, making LinkedIn profiles, etc., and panel discussions with experts representing diverse sectors of the job market. Minutes of all events are uploaded on the website, as well as accompanied by press releases. It was reported that 42 companies have participated in campus placement through a three-day Internship-Placement Fair. 18 companies have completed the recruitment process, and 44 offer letters have been received by students through these placement drives, and 30 companies are in the process of finalising their recruitments. External experts gave valuable suggestions on how to enhance the placement ecosystem in a social science university. Suggestions were given to organise career readiness workshops, document student progression, collect graduating student data and maintain school-wise data related to student placement and HE progression.

Agenda Item 7b

Alumni Connect initiatives and outcomes

Dr Anshu Gupta, Director of Alumni Affairs, reported that 3000 alumni have registered on the Alumni portal till February 2025 out of 9000 alumni of the University 2009 onwards. The Alumni Association was registered in 2019, but it is not active.

Dr Sameer suggested a need to shift the University's approach with respect to Alumni and not just look at alumni in terms of what they can do for the University, but also rethink what the University can offer its alumni by way of skill upgradation, possible sites of professional and academic networks. In the context of a vulnerable and dynamically evolving work sphere, the University needs to think about formal mechanisms to support its alumni by way of organising seminars/workshops, etc., and facilitating Alumni initiatives. There is a need to create a value for alumni to associate with the University.

Dr Shivangi Verma shared about the interesting Alumni initiatives in her University such as the publication of an annual Alumni Coffee Table Book, and the setting up of an Alumni Wall to encourage more participation. In addition, an active Web page devoted to the alumni could also reinforce engagement.

Agenda Item 8

Implementation of Mentorship Scheme: Status report on the implementation of the institutional mentorship scheme

Based on the resolution of the previous IQAC Committee Meeting, it was reported that the University has formally instituted the Mentorship Scheme across all Schools and programmes. The list of faculty mentors and student mentees has been notified, and minutes of meetings are being systematically maintained at the school level.

Agenda Item 9:

Report on Faculty Development Programmes (FDPs) and workshops conducted/planned and proposed Calendar of IQAC Activities for the 2026-2027.

Dr Bhawna Bali Dean, Research & Development reported that for SMGFR, 7 faculty members have been awarded grants in the 5th round of SMGFR in 2025. University faculty have also been awarded grants by external agencies like ICSSR and consultancies such as that from Tata Trust. The University has been conducting faculty development programmes consistently under the aegis of the HRDC division of the University. The proposed calendar of activities for IQAC was shared with the members.

The calendar of proposed activities for the year 2026-2027 was also presented in the meeting.

With no other agenda item, the Meeting concluded with a formal vote of thanks to the Chair and Members.
